3. What is the minimum GPA required for completing the program? (Leave blank if you indicated that a minimum GPA is not required in the table above.)

4. Please provide any additional information about the information provided above:

All Post Bacc preparation students are admitted into the program with a minimum of a bachelor's degree from an accredited institution. Applicants are monitored throughout the program and receive support through Rio's Response to Intervention policies and practices, which provide academic support to students and additional support related to time management, personal needs, and juggling work and family. As a response to the needs of the local education agencies during a teacher shortage, Rio Salado College began to accept teacher candidates into the program with a 2.5 to 2.99 GPA with conditional admission status. Teacher candidates admitted with conditional admission status are provided extra support and tracked during their first semester in the program. Upon successful completion of the first semester, students are re-classified with standard admission status.

Supervised Clinical Experience

Note: The clinical experience requirements in this section are preloaded from the prior year's IPRC. Teacher preparation providers will enter the number of participants each year.

Provide the following information about supervised clinical experience in 2021-22. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(C\)\(iii\), §205\(a\)\(1\)\(C\)\(iv\))

Please provide any additional information about or descriptions of the supervised clinical experiences:

The supervised clinical experience consists of four visits - three formal and one informal - by the adjunct faculty member (Program Supervisor); strong relationships and expectations regarding the teaching and observation requirements are established early on in the experience. Supervisors are trained regularly on expectations regarding the evaluation of students and are provided with a rubric outlining expectations, thus providing reliability in scoring of applicants on each classroom teaching demonstration. Program Supervisors are trained annually on processes and expectations for support of the teacher candidates. Rio Salado utilizes a staffing model of one faculty chair and many adjunct faculty versus hiring full-time faculty members. The model is well-documented as a successful model for supporting students and building consistency within programs.

Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

What are CIP codes? The Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP) provides a taxonomic scheme that supports the accurate tracking and reporting of fields of study and program completions activity. CIP was originally developed by the U.S. Department of Education's National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in 1980, with revisions occurring in 1985, 1990, and 2000 (<https://nces.ed.gov/ipeds/cipcode/Default.aspx?y=55>).

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2021-22. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

Program Assurances

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

>> Program Assurances

Respond to the following assurances. Teacher preparation programs should be prepared to provide documentation and evidence, when requested, to support the following assurances. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(A\)\(iii\); §206\(b\))

Program Assurances

Note: This section is preloaded from the prior year's IPRC.

1. Program preparation responds to the identified needs of the local educational agencies or States where the program completers are likely to teach, based on past hiring and recruitment trends.

- Yes

2. Preparation is closely linked with the needs of schools and the instructional decisions new teachers face in the classroom.

- Yes
 No

3. Prospective special education teachers are prepared in core academic subjects and to instruct in core academic subjects.

- Yes
 No
 Program does not prepare special education teachers

4. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students with disabilities.

- Yes
 No

5. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to limited English proficient students.

- Yes
 No

6. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students from low-income families.

- Yes
 No

7. Prospective teachers are prepared to effectively teach in urban and rural schools, as applicable.

- Yes
 No

8. Describe your institution's most successful strategies in meeting the assurances listed above:

Responding to the identified needs of the local education agencies is a top priority of Rio Salado College's Educator Preparation Programs. It is equally important to pay attention to the instructional decisions new teachers face in the classroom where they are likely to be employed. Rio Salado College accomplishes this through the following strategies: 1) attending local and national conferences, 2) holding advisory board meetings, and 3) Arizona Department of Education (ADE) communication/committee work. Key education personnel and staff attend state conferences such as Arizona School Personnel Administrators Association (ASPAA), as well as national conferences such as National Association of State Directors of Teacher Education and Certification (NASDTEC) and National Association of Community College Teacher Education Programs (NACCTEP). The Educator Preparation Program Advisory Board for Rio Salado College consists of local Superintendents, Human Resource Directors, Principals, Teachers, Business Sector Representatives, and Parents. Each of these representatives is essential to assisting RSC in identifying current hiring and recruitment trends. Important information is gained from the insight and experiences of the Advisory Board members. Rio Salado College actively participates in ADE committees, workshops, training and attends monthly State Board of Education meetings. As this is a post baccalaureate program, prior core academic subject knowledge training is demonstrated via transcripts of bachelor's degree completion. Prospective special education teacher candidates are prepared in core academic subjects and receive training during their certification program specifically in phonics instruction in EDU271: Phonics Based Reading and Decoding, and mathematics instruction in EDU293: Mathematics Methods and Curriculum Development. Prospective general education teachers receive training in providing instruction to children with disabilities. In the elementary, secondary, and K-12 arts certification program candidates are required to take EDU235: Exceptional Learner (3 credits). Early Childhood candidates are required to complete EEP244: Early Childhood Introduction to the Exceptional Young Child (3 credits) as a portion of their program coursework. Depending on the certification pathway, EDU239: Structured English Immersion (Grades K-8) or EDU240: Structured English Immersion (Grades 6-12) is required coursework for all completers. These courses provide training to general education teachers in providing instruction to limited English proficient students as mandated by the Arizona State Department of Education. Prospective general education teachers receive training in providing instruction to children from low-income families through EDU270: Learning and the Brain, EDU276: Classroom Management, and EEP246: Early Childhood- Culture, Community, Family and the Child. EDU270: Learning and the Brain discusses the impact of nutrition and healthy home environments as it relates to brain development and learning. EDU276: Classroom Management discusses the communication skills between a teacher and parents of low-income households. Similar to the training received regarding low-income families, prospective teachers receive training on how to effectively teach in urban and rural schools through a variety of field experience placements throughout the program prior to and including student teaching. Teacher candidates are required to visit a variety of classrooms and schools. The EDU276: Classroom Management course requires that students reflect upon Ruby Payne's "Framework for Understanding Poverty" while observing similar issues within the required full-time classroom setting.

Annual Goals: Mathematics

Each institution of higher education (IHE) that conducts a traditional teacher preparation program (including programs that offer any ongoing professional development programs) or alternative route teacher preparation program, and that enrolls students receiving Federal assistance under this Act, shall set annual quantifiable goals for increasing the number of prospective teachers trained in teacher shortage areas designated by the Secretary or by the state educational agency, including mathematics, science, special education, and instruction of limited English proficient students.

6. Provide any additional comments, exceptions and explanations below:

Due to the extreme shortage of teachers in Arizona, Rio Salado college continues to see growth in the Alt Path program, as it provides candidates with the opportunity to receive compensation while completing an educator preparation program. Our numbers in the traditional program are staying steady.

Recruiting teacher candidates into the field of secondary mathematics teaching continues to be difficult, not just for Rio Salado but across the state in general. The Arizona Department of Education created a Subject Matter Expert Certificate which allows any candidate with a degree in the mathematics area to become a fully-certified teacher without completing a state-approved program. Thus, most candidates with a mathematics background are choosing this option rather than completing an approved program.

8. Describe your goal.

Zero (0) prospective teachers will be added. Goal is to maintain enrollment. Due to the extreme shortage of teachers in Arizona, Rio Salado college continues to see growth in the Alt Path program, as it provides candidates with the opportunity to receive compensation while completing an educator preparation program. Our numbers in the traditional program are staying steady.

Our advisement team and Student Support Staff are keenly aware of the need for special education teachers in the state and across the country. As applicants investigate the profession of teaching our team works to direct students to Special Education as long as the candidate appears to have a true interest in the field. Additionally, we have begun to focus on the concept of teaching a single-subject at the 6-12 grade levels which still allows the applicant to teach in the subject area where they feel confident while also impacting the special education classroom.

5. Description of steps to improve performance in meeting goal or lessons learned in meeting goal, if applicable:

6. Provide any additional comments, exceptions and explanations below:

As applicants recognize that they can complete an Alternative Path program that includes employment and compensation, we are seeing more of our traditional students choose this option rather than the traditional path. We continue to see a drop in our traditional numbers.

The table provides information on the performance of the students in your teacher preparation program on each teacher credential assessment used by your state. In cases where a student has taken a given assessment more than once, the highest score on that test is used. In the case of a teacher preparation program with fewer than 10 scores reported on any single initial teacher credential assessment during an academic year, the program shall collect and publish information with respect to an average pass rate and scaled score on each state credential assessment taken over a three-year period. (§205(a)(1)(B))

Use of Technology

1. Provide the following information about the use of technology in your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(F\))

Does your program prepare teachers to:

- a. integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction

Yes

No

- b. use technology effectively to collect data to improve teaching and learning

Yes

No

- c. use technology effectively to manage data to improve teaching and learning

Yes

No

- d. use technology effectively to analyze data to improve teaching and learning

Yes

No

2. Provide a description of the evidence that your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction, and to use technology effectively to collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning for the purpose of increasing student academic achievement. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.

Teacher preparation candidates are required to create lesson plans incorporating technology as an instructional tool within content-area lesson planning. Teacher candidates utilize technology to input lesson plans in Essential Elements of Instruction templates, select matching standards, and create a matching assessment rubric. Student teachers in the student teaching experience collect, manage, and analyze student data with assistance from the supervising practitioner. This is done through a variety of methods such as electronic grade books, online attendance reporting, and district assessments such as READ180. Student teachers are assessed in their use of technology integration in the following areas: Engagement of Technology and Instruction - Use of technology is stated in the written lesson plan. - Students are actively engaged with the technology. - Procedures are in place for the students' use of technology. Proficient Skills/Demonstration and Use of Technology - Demonstrates skills necessary to effectively use the selected technology. - Use of technology is appropriate for lesson content. - Effective adaptation and integration is used when needed. Additionally, "Research in Action" assessments have been placed in a majority of the Post-Baccalaureate required courses. Within each of these assessments, students are prompted with a topic related to the specific course in which students must use a technology tool such as a Prezi, trifold brochure, and online research tools to present the findings of the research that they conduct.

Teacher Training

Provide the following information about your teacher preparation program.

(§205(a)(1)(G))

Note: This section is preloaded from the prior year's IPRC.

Teacher Training

1. Provide a description of the activities that prepare general education teachers to:

a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

General education teachers receive training in providing instruction to children with disabilities. All program completers are required to take a course on identifying characteristics of exceptional learners, differentiating instruction based on a student's Individualized Education Plan (IEP) and the laws related to Special Education. During the field experience, students are exposed to the special education process and IEP components. Early Childhood candidates are required to complete EEP244: Early Childhood Introduction to the Exceptional Young Child (3 credits) as a portion of their program coursework. General education teacher candidates complete field experience hours in designated special education classrooms (pull-out or push-in) as a part of coursework as well as during the student teaching. During these experiences, general education teacher candidates participate in IEP meetings.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

All of the state approved certification programs for Rio Salado College require students to take EDU235: The Exceptional Learner (3 credits). Within EDU235, teacher candidates are required to observe and tutor a student with an Individualized Education Plan (IEP) for 20 hours. During the field experience, students are exposed to the special education process and IEP components.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.

All Rio Salado teacher candidates complete a state-approved SEI course based on their certification level. Each course provides a foundation for how to support the needs of English Learners (EL) and includes comparison and evaluation of various language educational models including Structured English Immersion (SEI), bilingual classrooms and Individual Language Learner Plans. The coursework also covers legal and historical foundations and language development. Emphasis on foundational language skills, instructional elements, teaching strategies, development/evaluation/differentiation of teaching materials and strategies, and culturally relevant instruction.

2. Does your program prepare special education teachers?

- Yes
 No

If yes, provide a description of the activities that prepare special education teachers to:

a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

Special education teacher candidates take EDU235: The Exceptional Learner (3 credits), which requires teacher candidates to observe and tutor a student with an Individualized Education Plan (IEP) for 20 hours. During this experience, candidates are exposed to the special education process and IEP components. Special education teacher candidates complete approximately 36 credits of coursework prior to completing their capstone experience within a mild to moderate classroom setting. The coursework includes a rich blend of field experience hours within our local school systems along with Rio's own course content covering language development and disorders, communication practices, structured English Immersion, and assessment and eligibility in special education.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

Special education teacher candidates take EDU235: The Exceptional Learner (3 credits), which requires teacher candidates to observe and tutor a student with an Individualized Education Plan (IEP) for 25 hours. During this experience, candidates are exposed to the special education process and IEP components. Special education teacher candidates complete approximately 36 credits of coursework prior to completing their capstone experience within a mild to moderate classroom setting. The coursework includes a rich blend of field experience hours within our local school systems along with Rio's own course content covering language development and disorders, communication practices, structured English Immersion, and assessment and eligibility in special education.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.

All Rio Salado candidates complete an approved SEI course based on their certification level. Contextual Information Please use this space to provide any additional information that describes your teacher preparation program(s). You may also attach information to this report card (see below). The U.S. Department of Education is especially interested in any evaluation plans or interim or final reports that may be available.

As one of the few community colleges to offer an online, post-baccalaureate teacher preparation program in the country, Rio Salado College continues to meet a need by certifying high-quality classroom teachers in a flexible and cost-effective manner. Rio Salado College makes it possible for the encore or re-careering adults to enter the classroom and bring real-world industry experience to the PreK-12 student population, ensuring relevance of information. Rio Salado's traditional Post-Bacc model is designed around the needs of the adult learner, which means that we intentionally seek to design systems and programs that take into consideration both the personal and professional needs of our students in regards to education; this includes, but is not limited to, raising families, work-related-travel, and continued employment while completing a certification program. Our encore learners bring a passion and desire to give back to their community because they are making a conscious decision to take themselves out of their current work environment and place themselves into the classroom with a passion and desire to change students' lives, all while being fully aware of the challenges and expectations of the teaching profession.
